As part of the July 28, 2010 Business Meeting, the Energy Commission will consider adopting an Order Instituting Rulemaking – 2010 Rulemaking on Power Source Disclosure Regulations.

Purpose

The basic purpose of this proceeding is to consider changes to the Commission's power source disclosure regulations (title 20, Cal. Code Regs., §§ 1390 - 1394), as required by Assembly Bill 162 (Ruskin, Chapter 313, Statutes of 2009).

Background

In 1997, Senate Bill 1305 (Sher, Chapter 796, Statutes of 1997) established reporting requirements for retail electricity providers, including requirements to disclose quarterly and annual fuel mix information to retail customers in the form of Power Content Labels. Regulations were adopted to implement the Power Source Disclosure Program in 2001, and specific instructions were given on reporting formats for the program. AB 162 makes a number of changes to the Power Source Disclosure Program, and this rulemaking proceeding will ensure that the Commission remains in compliance with existing law.

This rulemaking shall initially focus on (1) changing the Power Content Label so that it provides a more accurate representation of the state's overall level of renewable generation; (2) establishing guidelines for disclosure of annual fuel mix information to the Commission and customers; (3) updates and clarification; and (4) other priority matters as determined by the Committee. The purpose of this rulemaking is to amend the Commission's current power source disclosure regulations in order to meet the requirements in AB 162.
