Lalo,

The Avenal Energy power plant project has re-started work to obtain permits to construct and operate the plant. Early this year, I promised to get a hold of you when this occurred. The project proponent has new staff that you can contact directly to arrange for the site visit you requested. If you are still interested in a site visit, please contact Tracey Gilliland to arrange the visit. Her e-mail address is tegilliland@gmail.com.

Thank you.

Lalo,

TRC, the company that I work for, prepared the permit application for the Avenal Energy project in Kings County that you inquired about. The reason I have not gotten back to you sooner is that the project has been paused. We plan to continue permitting work later this year. Once activity on the project re-starts, I will contact you to arrange for a site visit if you are still interested.

In the meantime, please let me know if you have any questions.

Best Regards,

Joe

Hello Lalo,

Good to hear from you about the Avenal project and hope you are doing well. I am forwarding your message to Joe Stenger at TRC Solutions. That company is handling the application process for the energy company and they will be able to coordinate with the tribe to address the issues you raise. Hope to see you again soon.

Tom

Hello Tom

We have received your letter notifying us about the proposed power plant near the City of Avenal.

Tom, although your record search has given you no indication that cultural features may be encountered within the proposed project area.

The Tachi Tribe believes that there is a high probability that cultural features will be encountered during the course of construction.

Will you please at your earliest convenience arrange a site visit for us of the proposed project area. And please also provide us with the name and contact information for the representative from LLC.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Lalo Franco. Cultural Specialist
