

7.0 ENVIRONMENTAL INFORMATION

The following sections in this chapter are divided into environmental resource areas in accordance with California Energy Commission regulations. Each section describes the Marsh Landing Generating Station project environmental setting, environmental consequences, cumulative impacts, and mitigation measures (if necessary). In addition, each section identifies laws, ordinances, regulations, and standards applicable to each resource area. Within certain resource areas, a table is included that identifies additional permits necessary for the project and indicates the appropriate location within this Application for Certification of the supporting information necessary for the permitting agency to issue the permit.
