Subject: BUILDINGSTANDARDS-LIST: Revised Notice of Hearing for Possible Adoption of 2013 Proposed Building Energy Efficiency Standards and Proposed Negative Declaration

We have posted a revised Notice of Hearing for the Possible Adoption of 2013 Proposed Building Energy Efficiency Standards and Proposed Negative Declaration.

The revised notice corrects links, and the WebEx meeting number and password.

Notice of Hearing for Possible Adoption of 2013 Proposed Building Energy Efficiency Standards and Proposed Negative Declaration

Availability of 15-Day Language and Opportunity for Comment

The California Energy Commission will conduct a hearing to consider adopting the proposed update to the Building Energy Efficiency Standards in the California Code of Regulations, Title 24, Part 6, associated administrative regulations in Part 1 (collectively also known as the California Energy Code), and portions of the Green Building Code, Part 11 (also known as CalGreen), of the California Building Code. The Energy Commission will also consider the proposed and supplemental Initial Study and Negative Declaration.

Concurrent with this notice, the Energy Commission has also published modifications to the proposed Standards that were previously made available for public comment, and identified additional documents it will rely upon for adoption of these Standards. The modifications to the proposed Standards are known as the "15-Day Language" and are the proposed revisions to the California Energy Code and CalGreen that the Energy Commission will consider adopting.
