EXHIBIT A Scope of Work

PURPOSE

The purpose of this Agreement is to formalize the California Energy Commission's sponsorship of the 2018 Tribal Energy Summit, to be held November 26, 27 and 28, 2018 in Temecula, California. This summit, envisioned in the Energy Commission's tribal consultation policy, is a historic first-of-its-kind gathering among the Energy Commission, California Public Utility Commission, the California Independent Systems Operator and California Native American Tribes. The Energy Commission is the lead state agency responsible for planning, coordinating, facilitating and reporting out on this important event. The summit will be hosted by the Pechanga Tribe and on their tribal lands, and will feature a dialogue among state energy agencies, and California Native American tribal leadership concerning the identification, planning and development of tribal renewable energy consistent with state renewable energy goals. A draft agenda includes such topics as tribal electricity access, tribal renewable energy development, tribal energy resiliency and microgrids, tribal transportation and electric vehicle infrastructure, and tribal utilities and their participation in California energy markets. Tribal participants will be presented with a variety of state energy funding opportunities. The Energy Commission's sponsorship will be acknowledged by the placement of its logo on summit announcements, agenda, and event banners or posters. Additionally, the Energy Commission will have sufficient time on the summit agenda to present its renewable energy policies and programs. The funds provided to the Pechanga Tribe by this agreement shall go directly towards the preparation and facilitation of the event with the exception that no state funds shall be used to cover event-related food costs.
