Section 2: Describe the entity's business activity or its nature and interests.

The Center for Energy Efficiency and Renewable Technologies (CEERT) is a nonprofit public-benefit organization founded in 1990 and based in Sacramento, CA. They are a partnership of major environmental groups and private-sector clean energy companies, and carry out technical, policy-making and policy-implementing work through programs that focus on renewable energy development issues.

Section 3.2: Specific description of the payment and its agency purpose and use.

Janea A. Scott, a Commissioner at the California Energy Commission (CEC) will participate at the Center for Energy Efficiency and Renewable Technologies and Neste workshop Low-Carbon Fuels in North America: Feedstock Sustainability – 2020 to 2030 and Beyond – and the challenge of harmonizing low-carbon fuel policy. This workshop will combine technical and policy discussions around how to meet the growing demand for low-carbon, renewable fuel supplies on the West Coast, Canada, and globally. In addition to the workshop, Commissioner Scott will have the opportunity to visit Neste's renewable diesel fuel refinery and a local palm mill, giving her a first-hand look at the logistics used in tracking separate feedstocks, and sustainability best practices and protocols.

Participation at this workshop will provide Commissioner Scott a valuable opportunity to provide California's perspective and demonstrate its leadership on low-carbon fuels at a global event.
